SUMMARY

Improving the X-6 Students’ Reading Comprehension Achievement and Their Active Participation by Using Teams Game Tournament (TGT) Technique at SMAN 1 Banyuwangi in the 2012/2013 Academic Year; Septina Fika Maulida Amaliya, 080210491013; 2008; 162 pages; English Education Program of Language and Arts Department of the Faculty of Teacher Training and Education of Jember University.

Key words: reading comprehension, TGT technique, classroom action research

This research is a classroom action research that was conducted collaboratively by the researcher with the English teacher. It applied TGT technique to improve the tenth grade students’ reading comprehension achievement at SMAN 1 Banyuwangi in the 2012/2013 academic year.

This research was begun by conducting an informal interview as the preliminary study with the English teacher of the tenth grade students of SMAN 1 Banyuwangi. It was revealed that the tenth grade students of SMAN 1 Banyuwangi, especially X-6 class, still faced some problems with reading comprehension. The teacher stated that only 29.40% of students could reach the standard score of Standar Kompetensi Minimum (SKM) of 75. It means that the students’ reading comprehension achievement was still low.

To overcome the problem above, applying an appropriate technique in teaching reading became important. The teaching technique that was used in this research was Teams Games Tournament (TGT). It was used because TGT technique is one of cooperative learning types that could help the students to improve their achievement and active participation.

The data in this research were collected by administering reading comprehension achievement test after the actions and by having observation in the class in each cycle during the implementation of the action. The research design was Classroom Action Research (CAR) with cycle model. Each cyclical consisted of four stages of activity: the planning of the action, the implementation of the action, observation and evaluation, and data analysis and reflection of the action.

This research was conducted at SMAN 1 Banyuwangi. The tenth grade students of SMAN 1 Banyuwangi, especially X-6 class in the 2012/2013 academic year, were the research subjects of this research.

Based on the results of the data analysis and discussion, it could be concluded that teaching reading by using TGT technique in two cycles was able to improve the tenth grade students’ reading comprehension achievement at SMAN 1 Banyuwangi in the 2012/2013 academic year. The improvement was from 61.76% in the first cycle to 76.47% of students who got score of 75 or higher in the second cycle.

It also showed that the TGT technique was applicable to the tenth grade students in improving the students’ active participation. It was supported by the improvement of the results of observation that was from 71.42% in Cycle 1 to 80.55% of the students who actively participated in the teaching learning process of reading comprehension.

Finally, the result findings in Cycle 2 indicated that TGT technique was able to improve the students’ reading comprehension achievement and their active participation. Therefore, the English teacher is suggested to apply the TGT technique as an alternative technique in teaching the reading skill.
