ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I would like to express my greatest gratitude to Allah SWT for blessing me and giving me strength so that I can finish writing the thesis entitled “Improving the Eight Grade Students’ Speaking Achievement by Using Drama Technique (Role Play) at SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 Academic Year “.

In relation to the writing and finishing of this thesis, I would like to express the deepest and sincerest thanks to:

1. The Dean of the Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, Jember University, Prof. Dr. Sunardi, M. Pd.
2. The Chairperson of the Language & Arts Department.
3. The Chairperson of English Education Study Programs.
4. The first and second consultants, Drs. Bambang Suharjito, M.Ed, Drs. Sugeng Ariyanto, M.A, for spending the time and giving me enlightenment and suggestions to make my thesis better.
5. My Academic Supervisor, Dra Wiwiek Istianah, M. Kes, M. Ed. for all your suggestions and kindness in guiding and advising me during my college years.
6. The Principal of SMPN 2 Ledokombo, Ibu Indana, S. Pd, M. Pd. The English teacher of SMPN 2 Ledokombo, Ibu Wiwuk Eka, S. Pd, M.Pd. for giving me an opportunity, help, and support to conduct this research.
7. The eighth B grade students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 academic year.

I believe that this thesis might have some weaknesses. Therefore, any criticism from those who really want to improve the thesis will be wisely appreciated.

SUMMARY

Improving the Eighth Grade Students' Speaking Achievement by Using Drama Technique at SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 Academic Year; Aprilia Rahmadiani, 100210401006; 2015: 45 Pages; English Language Education Study Program, Language and Arts Department, The Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, Jember University.

This Classroom action research was intended to improve the eight grade students' achievement and their active participation in speaking class by using drama technique at SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 academic year. It was started by conducting informal interview with the English teacher of the eight grade students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo. There were 3 classes of eight grade at the school. Class VIII B was chosen purposively as the subjects of this research because based on the result of preliminary study to the class VIII B of SMPN 2 Ledokombo, the students experienced difficulties in speaking test. They usually felt unconfident to speak up. It made their speech less fluent. They also pronounced the TL words incorrectly and afraid of making mistakes in choosing the right vocabulary. The teacher explained that the students' activeness in the learning process of speaking was low. It happened because most of them felt unconfident and afraid of expressing their own ideas in oral language. In addition, they were usually reluctant to participate in teaching learning process. It makes the students' performance in speaking test not optimal.

Considering the problems above, role play as a part of drama technique was chosen as a technique in teaching speaking to improve the students' participation and achievement in speaking class. Classroom action research with cycle model was applied in this study. The action classroom research was carried out to improve the students' achievement and participation in speaking class by using drama technique at the eight grade students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 academic year. In the implementation, there was only one cycle which consist of three meeting. This classroomaction research was done with a sequence of steps namely: the planning of the action, the reflection of the action class observation and evaluation, and data analysis and reflection of the action. The classroom observation used an observation checklist to identify the students' active participation while the speaking test used scoring criteria to measure the students' speaking achievement. The action were successful if 75% students participated actively in the speaking class and 75% students have achieved the target score that was 70.

The result of action in meeting 1 unsuccessfully met the target indicators. There were only 17 students among 24 students (71%) who were active in this meeting. However, there was an improvement on the students participation in meeting 2. There were 20 of 24 students or 83% of the students participated actively in speaking class and 20 students or 83% achieved the target score. In addition, the general result of cycle 1 was 77% of the students were actively participated in the TL process of speaking using drama technique. This result had fulfilled the target indicators of the research. Hence, the action was stopped. This improvement happened because of some aspects that were revised in the lesson plan for meeting 2. The revised aspects were 1). Adding some warm up exercises in order to make the students motivated in the learning process. And 2). Adding the time for completing and making up the play for 20 minutes. Considering the reserach result, it was suggested that the English teacher use Drama Technique especially role play as an alternative technique in teaching speaking.

CHAPTER 1. INTRODUCTION

This chapter covers some aspects dealing with the topics of the research. They are background of the research, the problems of the research, the objective of the research, the scope of the research and the significance of the research.

1.1 Background of the Research

Speaking is an important skill in foreign language learning. Speaking often becomes the determinant factor of someone's ability in English. Richards (2008: 19) says, the mastery of speaking skills in English is a priority for many second-language or foreign-language learners. The students are expected to master speaking skill because speaking skill becomes the measure of comprehending English. Furthermore, speaking skill plays an important role in our life because we communicate to each other everyday. Speaking is the most common and important means of providing communication among people. The key to successful communication is speaking nicely, efficiently, and articulately, as well as using effective voice projection. Speaking is linked to success in life as it occupies an important position both individually and socially (Ulas, 2008).

Unfortunately, the EFL student's skill in speaking is still far from what it should be. According to Hoge (2011: 6), it happens because most of students have a lot of negative beliefs about English learning ability. These negative beliefs are: a) English speaking is difficult, b) I am not good at English, c) I am nervous when I speak English, d) I must speak English perfectly every time, e) I can not make mistakes, f) There is only one right answer, g) I must memorize and follow all grammar rules, h) People from my country can't speak English well, i) It is impossible to speak English easily and quickly.

Speaking is difficult. Teaching speaking is also difficult. Louma (2004: ix) states that speaking in foreign language is very difficult and the competence in speaking takes a long time to develop. The students need more time to produce a sentence or even to say a word because they need to think and translate their ideas before they speak up. The fact is speaking in English becomes one of the skills that should be mastered in curriculum. In other words, it is a job for the teacher to teach speaking English well to the students. However, it is not easy too to teach speaking in English. Brown and Yule (1983:25) state that learning to talk in foreign language is often considered to be one of the most difficult aspects of language learning by the teachers to help the students. Commonly, many teachers force the students to memorize many vocabularies and rules of grammar so that the students experience bad thing before they master English.

During the preliminary study, the English teacher of eight grade students at SMPN 2 Ledokombo informed that she teaches English to the students of class VIIIA, VIIIB, VIIC. She teaches twice in a week for one class. She said that the eight grade students experienced difficulties in speaking test. They usually felt unconfident to speak up. It made their speech less fluent. They also pronounced the TL words incorrectly and afraid of making mistakes in choosing the right vocabulary. She explained that the students' activeness in the learning process of speaking was low. It happened because most of them felt unconfident and afraid of expressing their own ideas in oral language. In addition, they were usually reluctant to participate in teaching learning process. It makes the students' performance in speaking test not optimal.

It was informed by the English teacher of the eighth grade student at SMPN 2 Ledokombo, almost all students have problem in speaking skill. It was shown from the result of the students' speaking test from the English teacher documentation. The students' score was 60-65 which was below the standard score 70. Speaking was the most stressful skill to do. It showed commonly when the students were doing monologue performance. Further, most students would not talk or say anything when the teacher asked them to speak in English. In other time, the students preferred talking in their own language than the target language (English). Time management of speaking class was also the common problem faced by the teacher. Speaking spends more time than the other skill. As a result, not all the students could participate speaking activities. The other problem came up when speaking class was conducted while the students were chatting to each other. It made the classroom noisy and difficult to be controlled. Those problems happened because the students did not have enough time to practice their speaking of English.

Considering such problems, it becomes a part of teacher's job to foster the students in mastering speaking skill. The teacher is expected to be able to play the role as a facilitator for the students to acquire the spoken language. The teacher also should be creative in creating many methods or techniques such as : discussion, role play, drama technique, and games. These activities can reduce the students's boredom and make them excited in interaction with others.

Drama becomes one of the good solutions to solve this problem. Drama is very useful. It contributes a lot of advantages to English Language teaching. First, drama becomes the ideal method for students to develop their self confidence. Sam (1990) agrees by stating, drama activities can be used to provide opportunities for the students to be involved actively. The activities involve the whole students personality and not merely his mental process. Furthermore Desialova (2009) says that using drama and drama activities has clear advantages for language learning. It encourages students to speak. It gives them the chance to communicate even with limited language using non verbal communication such as body movements and facial expressions. Kao and O'Neill (1998) stated that confidence levels increase when students have something to talk about and most importantly, when they know how to express their ideas.

Second, drama is entertaining and fun. It can provide motivation and excitement to learn. As stated by Peregoy and Boyle (2008) "Drama activities provide students with a variety of contextualized and scaffold activities that gradually involve more participation and more oral language proficiency, they are also non-threatening and a lot of fun”. Drama has been credited with the ability to empower students and allow them some ownership and control over their own learning (Wilburn, 1992). Drama activities can promote interesting ways of motivating language learners and teachers. With drama we can play, move, act and learn at the same time. Furthermore the use of drama activities has clear advantages for language learning regarding motivation, the use of language in context, teaching and learning cross curricular content, etc.

Many researchers have done a classroom action research by using drama technique. One of them was Herlista (2009:vii), she noted that there was an improvement on the students’ participation and speaking achievement after using drama technique in teaching and learning process. There were 37 of 42 students or 88% of the students participated actively in speaking class and percentage of the students’ speaking test were 37 students or 88% in good category and excellent. Considering the research result, she added it was suggested that the English teacher use drama technique as an alternative technique in teaching speaking.

Based on the background above, the researcher conduct a classroom action research entitled, “ Improving the Eight Grade Students’ Speaking Ability by Using Drama Technique (Role Play) at SMPN 2 Ledokombo in 2014/2015 academic year”.

1.2 Problems of the Research

Based on the background of the research, the problems of the research are :

1. Can the use of drama technique improve the the eighth grade students’ participation during the teaching learning process of speaking at SMPN 2 Ledokombo?
2. Can the use of drama technique improve the eighth grade students’ speaking achievement at SMPN 2 Ledokombo?

1.3 Objectives of the Research

Based on the problem formulation, the objectives of the research were :

1. To improve the eighth grade students's participation during the teaching learning process of speaking by using drama technique at SMPN 2 Ledokombo.
2. To improve the eighth grade students' speaking achievement by using drama technique at SMPN 2 Ledokombo.

1.4. The Scope of the Research

The subjects of the research are the VIIIb students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 academic year. The subjects of the research were chosen purposively.

1.5 Significance of the Research

The result of this research hopefully can be useful for the following people:

1. For the teachers

The result of this research can give and add their knowledge and information about the useful of drama and applied this technique as the media.

2. For the students

The result of this research hopefully can improve their participation and achievement in speaking English. The other result of the research hopefully can give a nice experience to the students in learning English by using drama.

3. For the future researches

The result of the research hopefully can give information and reference for other research to conduct the research about the use of drama in improving students speaking achievement.

CHAPTER 2. REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

This chapter covers some aspects dealing with related literature review of the research, there are : definition of speaking, speaking in English Language Teaching , drama technique in ELT, and the action research hypothesis.

2.1 Definition of Speaking

Speaking is the action of transferring information or expressing someone's thoughts and feeling to others in spoken language. Speaking is regarded as one of the factors that determine someone's ability in English. Speaking becomes an important thing in our daily life. Speaking is so much a part of daily life that we take it for granted (Thornbury 2002:1). Speaking skill is different from the other three skills such as reading. When someone speaks, the words come naturally but in reading there is just reading or speaking if only that things which have been written in the text. Speaking is also different from writing. "We use speech largely for establishment and maintenance of human relationship (primarily interactional use). We use written language largely for the working out of and transference of information (primarily transactional use)", (Brown and Yule, 1988:13).

Speaking is not easy. There are a lot of aspects in speaking. Speaking has many different aspects including two major categories: accuracy involving the correct use of vocabulary, grammar and pronunciation practised through controlled and guided activities; and fluency. Besides, according to Hughes (2003:131) there should be five aspects that have to be fulfilled in assessing speaking. Those are pronunciation, vocabulary, grammar, fluency, and content of the speech. This research focused only on several aspects such as fluency, pronunciation and content. Since the students are expected to speak freely without feeling hesitate on grammatical errors and not afraid of choosing the wrong vocabulary. Furthermore, speaking skill for junior high school level does not have much concern on the grammar and vocabulary.

First aspect in this research is fluency. According to Fillmore (1979 : 93) fluency is the ability to be creative and imaginative in language use. It becomes important thing in speaking. Fluency often becomes the object of evaluation in major foreign language assessment.

The second aspect is pronunciation. Pronunciation becomes so important in oral communication, because wrong or bad pronunciation will lead different meaning and appears some misunderstanding. Hughes (2003) stated that foreign accent requires concentrated listening, and mispronunciations lead to occasional misunderstanding and apparent errors in grammar or vocabulary. In addition Gilakjani (2012) states “ Pronunciation refers to the production of sounds that we use to make meaning. It includes attention to the particular sounds of a language (segments), aspects of speech beyond the level of the individual sound such as: intonation, phrasing, stress, timing, rhythm (suprasegmental aspects), how the voice is projected (voice quality), and in its broadest definition, attention to gestures and expressions that are closely related to the way we speak a language.

The third aspect is content. It is very important, because oral communication without essential content becomes useless. In practice the students need to express ideas, feeling, and thoughts in oral communication. It can be interpreted as a content. Levinson (1996:71) states that ideas, feeling, and thoughts refer to the kinds of mental process that occur during the act of formulating a speech. Therefore, it is necessary for the students to express appropriate content that is relevant to the topic.

2.2 Speaking in ELT

Speaking fluently in English is often considered as one of the factors that establish someone's ability. It becomes the main purpose for many students in learning English at school, and it becomes important part of learning foreign language. Unfortunately, the EFL students skill in speaking is still far from what is should be. It becomes a job for the teacher to teach speaking English well to the students. Therefore, the English teacher should give extra effort in teaching the EFL students to improve the students' participation and achievement.

In fact, either learning or teaching English are not easy. It becomes more difficult to teach speaking at secondary school. As students grow up, it is difficult for them to concentrate on the subject and they get distracted easily with another problem. So, it becomes a challenge to teach English in secondary school. In order to make the students develop their ability in spoken English, the teachers have to be creative in creating a comfort environment to keep students motivated and interested in learning process.

2.3 Drama Technique in ELT

In speaking activity, the students are expected to have communicative competence: the ability to use the language correctly and appropriately to accomplish communication goals. The desired outcome of teaching speaking in the language learning process is the ability to communicate competently, not the ability to use the language exactly as a native speaker does. The EFL learners tend to measure their ability in English through how well they speak English accurately and fluently. Dealing with this statement, Hughes (2003:113) confirms that the objective of spoken language is to develop the students' ability to interact successfully in English and to involve comprehension as well as production.

Teaching English may not fulfill its goal. Even after years in learning English, the students do not gain the confidence to produce an English language in or outside the classroom. An attractive alternative is teaching language through drama because it gives a context for listening and speaking, a meaningful language production, forcing the learners to use their language resources and enhancing their linguistic abilities. In teaching speaking, we can use drama. We can play a role while teaching speaking. We asked the students to play a character and they have to speak up coincide with the character that they played. This way will gain the confidence of the students to speak in front of public. It can improve their ability in speaking.

Drama is applied to classroom activities where the focus is on the doing rather than on the presentation, and it is different from the theatre. Theatre concern more with presentation. The students have the opportunity to experiment with the language they have learnt, and the teacher has a chance to see how each person operates in a relatively unguided piece of interaction. According to Doughill (1987) there are five activities of drama in the classroom, they are :

1. Warm-up exercises

Doughill (1987:9) states the aim of this activity is to foster a climate of trust, awareness and group cohesion in which creative collaboration can take place. Sometimes it is also called “ensemble building exercises”. This activity helps the students to focus their minds so they are ready to start the lesson. Warm-up exercises can be used at the beginning of the lesson. Here the three different types of warm-up exercises (Doughill:1987:10) :

a. Introductory warm-up exercises.

The purpose is to break down barriers and to bond participations, so that the student shares the same fun experience.

b. Verbal and vocal warm-up exercises

This activity is particularly useful for steering students’ minds away from their native language towards the target language. This activity is used to practice the students’ pronunciation.

c. Trust and sensitivity exercises.

This activity helps to foster such group togetherness. The students can build a good relationship each other through this activity.

2. Mime

Mime helps the students to build up their confidence by encouraging them doing things in front of the class. Mime develops the students’ power of imagination. It help the students comfortable with their idea so they can show up their confidence in front of the class. According to Doughill (1987:13) Mime is a non-verbal representation of an idea or story through gesture, bodily movement and expression. Doughill (1987:15) added although no language is used during mime, it can be spur to language use where there is the need for explanation, both in terms of the teacher's instructions and students' discussion (if the mime involves pair or group work).

3. Role Play

This is probably the term most language teachers are familiar with. It describes a type of activity in which the students are given fairly controlled scenarios or cuecards to interpret. It fits if the definitions of drama, but it has connotations of a more controlled situation in which the students generally interact in pairs or small groups.

Doughill (1987:17) states, the main benefit of role play from the point of view of language teaching is enable a flow of language to be produced that might be otherwise difficult of impossible to create. Livingstone (in Doughill 1987:17) says: by simulating reality role plays allow students to prepare and practise for possible future situations.

4. Improvisation

Improvisation is an excellent technique to use in the classroom as it motivates the learners to be active participants in real situations. At the beginning students are hesitant and shy to participate in the activities, but after a few sessions they become more enthusiastic and there are phenomenal improvement in their confidence level. The implementation of this technique is to improve the students' confidence. Improvisation provides learners with opportunities to not only improve their language communication skills, but also to improve their confidence which ultimately lead them to develop their ability in speaking English.

It is important to keep in mind that much of the content for the improvisation activities could come from the participants' own background and experiences. In fact, improvising is something we all do in our daily lives. Hodgson and Richards (in Doughill 1987:19) define the term as a spontaneous response to the unfolding of an unexpected situation. This ability to improvise is a necessary ingredient of language use.

5. Simulation

In simulation activities, the students are either playing themselves or someone else. Simulation activities are also interaction activities with various categories of dialogues. One category would be social formulas and dialogues such as greeting, parting, introductions, compliments, and complaints. Simulation exercises can teach students how to function in a social situation with the appropriate social niceties: for example, students could practice how to turn down a request for a date or a party. Another category of simulated interaction activity is community oriented tasks, where students learn how to cope with shopping, buying a ticket at a bus stop etc. This sort of simulation helps students' communicative participation in the community and at the very least help them in the task of collecting important information.

Livingstone (in Doughill 1987:21) sees a distinction between the assumption of role in role-play and simulation where the student brings his own personality, experience and opinions to the task. There may be improvisation within role-play and role-play within simulation, but for the language teacher there is only one concern : the opportunities they create for production of the spoken language.

2.3.1 The Application of Drama in the Classroom

In language teaching and learning process, drama technique deals with the teaching technique to help the students learn the TL for communication purposes rather than theatrical purposes. The students are not trained to be professional actor or actresses to perform the play. In this way, the students are expected to be active and creative to be express their ideas orally with all their feeling and emotion, and comprehend the intended meaning of what the other people speak.

Normally the students will work in pairs or groups during a drama activities. It does not mean the teacher has no role in the classroom. According to Holden (1981:13) the teacher must present the scenario or idea clearly and organise any preliminary work, ensuring that each student understands what they have to do. Then the teacher must divide the class into groups. Holden added the teacher also has a role in the discussion which normally follows each scene. This research focus only use role play as one of drama technique in the classroom.

2.3.1.1 Definition of Role Play

Role play is the act of imitating the character and behavior of a type of a person who is very different from yourself, either deliberately, for example as a training exercise, or without knowing it. The aim of using role play is for the students to make up short dialogues using appropriate language. The students practice role play in a controlled way, using the language items that they have already learnt.

2.3.1.2 Types of Role Play

According to Byrne (in Jannah : 2011), role play can be grouped into two forms, scripted and unscripted role play. In details, those types of role play activities described as follows:

a. Scripted Role Play

This type involves interpreting either the text book dialogue or reading text in the form of speech. The main function of the text after all is to convey the meaning of language items in a memorably way. In this type of role play the students use the language items they have already learn.

b. Unscripted Role Play

In contrast of scripted role play, the situations of unscripted role play do not depend on textbooks. It is known as a free role play or improvisation. The students themselves have to decide what language to use and how the conversation should develop. In order to do this activity, good preparation from teacher and students is really necessary.

Student usually found the role playing enjoyable. But, students who lack-confidence or have a lower proficiency levels may find them intimidating at first.

Good preparation leads success in role play. The important thing that must be done by the teacher is introduce the activity by describe the situation and making sure that all of the students understand it.

2.3.2 The Advantages of Drama Technique in Teaching Learning Speaking

Using drama and drama activities has clear advantages for language learning. It encourages students to speak, it gives them the chance to communicate even with limited language, using non-verbal communication such as: body movements and facial expression. There are also a number of other factors which makes drama a very powerful tool in the language classroom. Desialova (2009) outlined some of the areas where drama is very useful to language learners and teachers, and they are listed below :

1. It causes learners in using the language for genuine communication and real life purposes.
2. It makes language learning an active, motivating experience.
3. It gives confidence and self-esteem to learners in using the language spontaneously.
4. It brings the real world into the classroom (problem solving research, consulting dictionaries, real time and space, cross-curricular content).
5. It helps the students in acquiring the language through play, make-believe and meaningful interaction.
6. It makes the learning items memorable through direct experience and affect emotions with different learning styles.
7. When dramatizing, students make use of all the appropriate channels (sight, hearing, and physical bodies) for the active involvement in the language learning.
8. It stimulates learners' intellect and imagination.
9. It develops students' ability to empathize with others and become better communicators.

10. It helps learners in acquiring the language by focusing on the message not the form of their utterance.

(Desialova:2009)

Furthermore, there are many more advantages of using drama in teaching learning activities. First, using drama in teaching English brings the students feel the real situation, it involves the ideas, emotions, and feelings. Drama technique is successful to make the students practice the language and motivates the students to use the language appropriately with the right context and situation. Drama is also beneficial in teaching speaking since it provides improvement to the students' participation in speaking class. Kao and O'Neill (1988) stated that confidence levels increase when students have something to talk about and most importantly, when they know how to express their ideas.

Second, the main focus of using drama in the classroom is the use of the target language in communication. Desialova (2009) Through drama technique the students may know the general content of the dialogue and keep in their mind the important utterances of every language. Moreover, drama uses physical gestures as the effective means of communication, that can help the students who experience difficulties in using language. In other words, whenever the students can not express their ideas in TL orally they may use mimic or gestures to express their thought. Whenever they can not reach the speaker's idea they may guess it by the speaker's mimic or gestures.

Third, in creative drama, the students learn the language by doing. (Wilburn, 1992) Drama activities can promote interesting ways of motivating language learners and teachers. It means that the students learn to speak by speaking. It provides the students a great deal of opportunity to use English. Drama does not make the students feel bored in the classroom, but helps them enjoy the teaching learning process. It sets emotion as a process. Their minds become free to express their language and flexible to improve their experiences. Drama technique encourages the students to express their own feelings based on the situation given. The most important advantages of drama technique is comfortable. Drama technique can create a relax atmosphere of language learning where the students might express their ideas, without feeling afraid of making mistakes.

2.3.3 The Procedures of Using Drama Technique in Speaking Class

There are many procedures in using drama activities as a teaching technique in ELT. Drama can be used as a teaching technique after considering the situation, time and the students' need. Here the researcher only focused on the role play that was used in this research.

The following is an example of the procedure of role play (adapted from Holden:1981:17). The teacher explains that the students are going to work in pairs, the teacher will divide the group. The teacher provides cuecards containing a situation that will be played by students. Make sure that the language item used has been taught to the students. Here is the example of cuecard:

Table 2.1 Example of Cuecard.

Situation : You ask for permission to your mother to go to your friend's home. You : Your mother :(giving permission)

When the teacher is sure that all the students understand the exercise, the teacher distributes the cuecard and the students make up their dialogues. While they are doing this, the teacher goes around, observing and helping if it is needed. When the students complete their dialogues, they should have the chance to practice it. Then they perform one by one. When all the students have performed their dialogue, the next thing to do is giving feedback to the students. The class should discuss what they have just done. The teacher may give some suggestions to the students, and the students have the right to accept and refuse it. The discussion is done to uncover any errors and to provide a meaningful context for real conversation in English.

2.4 The Action Hypothesis

Based on the research problem and review of the literature, the research hypothesis of this classroom action research are formulated as follows :

1. The use of drama technique can improve the VIIIb students' active participation during the teaching and learning process of speaking at SMPN 2 Ledokombo.
2. The use of drama technique can improve the VIIIb students' speaking achievement at SMPN 2 Ledokombo.

CHAPTER 3. RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

This chapter covers some aspects dealing with research methodology applied in this research. They are : research design, area determination method, research subject, data collection methods, research procedures, and operational definition of terms.

3.1 Research Design

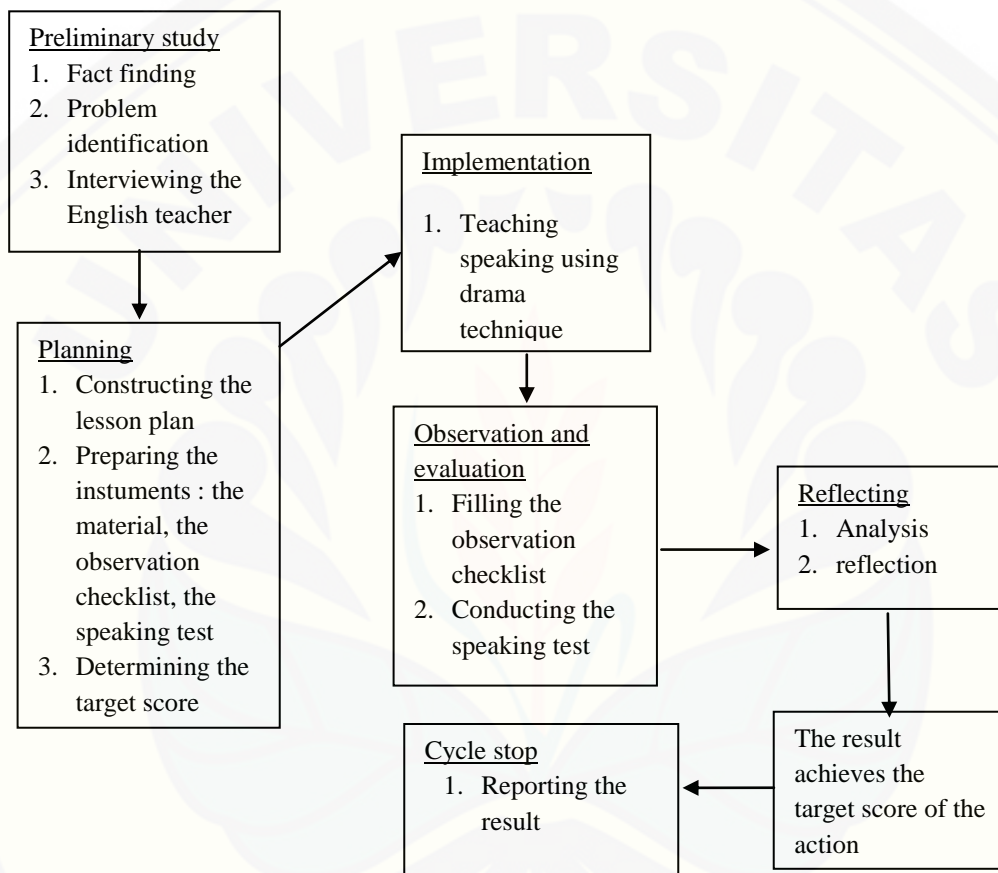

The design of this research is a classroom action research, as it is intended to improve the eight students' speaking achievement by using drama as the learning technique at SMPN 2 Ledokombo. According to Mc. Milan (1992:12) a classroom action research is a specific research which has a purpose to solve a specific classroom problem. Another supporting statement from Gay, Mills, and Airasian (2011:508) argue that action research is any systematic inquiry conducted by teachers, principals, school counselor, or other person in educational environment to gather information about the ways how the particular school operate, the teachers teach, and the students learn.

Based on the data obtained from preliminary study at SMPN 2 Ledokombo, it was known that the eight grade students experienced difficulties in speaking English. They had no motivation in speaking English which affected their speaking achievement. Moreover, their speaking scores was not in a good category for about 60-65. They felt anxious about English because they were afraid in making mistakes in speaking English.

Therefore, the researcher carried out this classroom action research collaboratively with the eight grade English teacher of SMPN 2 Ledokombo. The collaboration focused on every stage of this classroom action research which have four activities; (1) planning the action, (2) implementing the action, (3) observing the class and evaluating the students' speaking ability, and (4) analyzing the data and reflecting the action. For further information the following diagram illustrates this classroom action research :

The Cycle of the Classroom Action Research

(Adapted from Lewin in Elliot, 1991:71)

The activities of this classroom action research are as follow :

1. Interviewing the eight grade English teacher of SMPN 2 Ledokombo as the preliminary study for finding and identifying the students' problems in speaking.
2. Observing the teaching and learning process in the class.

3. Planning the action for meeting 1 and meeting 2 which covered constructing lesson plan, preparing the instruments including the materials, the observation checklist, and determining the target score. It is done collaboratively with the English teacher.
4. Implementing the action in the first cycle (meeting 1 and meeting 2)
5. Monitoring the implementation of the action by doing class observation using the observation checklist.
6. Administering speaking test to the students after the actions were given. The test was given at the third meeting.
7. Analyzing the result of the speaking test.
8. Reflecting the result of the speaking test, the result of the test has achieved the target score (75% of the students got score ≥ 70 , so the action was stopped).
9. Drawing a conclusion to answer the research problem.

3.2 Area Determination Method.

The area of this research was determined by using purposive method. Purposive method is a method chosen based on a certain purpose or reason. It means that this area determination has a specific purpose to solve problems in the certain area. In this research, the area was SMPN 2 Ledokombo. This school was chosen based on the these following considerations:

1. Drama technique has never been applied by the teacher in this school.
2. Most of the eight grade students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo still have problem in speaking.
3. The headmaster and the eight grade English teacher of SMPN 2 Ledokombo give permission to the researcher to conduct this classroom action research, and also the VIII B grade English teacher was interested in participating in this research as a collaborator.

3.3 Research Subjects

The subjects of this research were determined by using purposive method. Based on the information given by the English teacher, there were three classes in eight grade, and VIIIb with 24 students is chosen as the subjects of this research.

3.4 Data Collection Method

There were two kinds of data collection method that were applied in this research. They are observation and speaking test. Furthermore, both of them were clarified in these following sections.

3.4.1 Observation

Observation in this classroom action research was used to collect the data of students' active participation during the teaching and learning process by using drama as the technique in teaching speaking. This observation was done by both the researcher and the English teacher in each cycle. By this observation, the data showed whether drama technique can improve the students' active participation during the teaching and learning process of speaking or not. The instrument that used in observing the students' active participation was a piece of observation guide in the form of checklist which contains 5 indicators.

Table 3.1 Observation Checklist

Students' Name	Indicators					Total	Result
	1	2	3	4	5		Active	Passive

Indicators:

- 1 = Answering question
- 2 = Asking question
- 3 = Interacting with other students in constructing the play

4 = Participating in performing role play.

Active = at least 3 indicators performed, and indicator number 4 is a must.

Passive = less than 3 indicators performed.

Furthermore, students were categorized as active students if they could achieve at least three indicators in which one of them must be indicator number 4. On the contrary, when the students achieve less than three indicators, they are categorized as passive students. If that happens, this classroom action research does not achieve the criteria of success, then the researcher might continue to the next cycle.

3.4.2 Speaking Test

In this research, speaking test was done to collect data of students' speaking score after the teaching and learning process of speaking using drama as the technique. According to Hughes (2003:11) there are four types of test, they are proficiency test, achievement test, diagnostic test, and placement test. Therefore, this research only focused on achievement test, because this action research was done to improve students' speaking achievement. (Hughes, 2003:13) confirms that "achievement test is directly related to language courses, the purpose is to establish how successful individual students, group of students, or the courses themselves have been in achieving the teaching objectives." It is done at the end of the course. Subjective speaking test was constructed by the researcher to measure the students' speaking achievement in the aspect of pronunciation, fluency, and content. The test was done by performing 1 minute dialogue about asking for permission, giving permission and refusing permission. They worked in pairs and made a dialogue based on the situation given. There were 24 students in the class. Since, the test was done in pairs so there were 12 groups. In this research every group should have the same chance to choose the situation cards so there were 20 situation cards. Furthermore, there was one recorder in each group to record the students' performance.

According to Heaton (1988:164) validity and reliability are two criteria for evaluating any test. A test is considered to be valid if it measures accurately what is intended to measure. In other words the test was constructed to measure the students' achievement in speaking class by using drama covering their fluency, pronunciation and content of the speech. In order to get the content validity, the speaking test was constructed based on the material that have been taught and in line with the learning objectives. The material was the expression of asking for permission, giving permission, and refusing permission. The students were expected to perform 1 minute in pairs. The procedure of administering the test was described as follows:

1. Asking the students to make a group consisting two students in each group
2. Distributing the cue card randomly
3. Asking the students to make a dialogue based on the situation in 20 minutes
4. After twenty minutes, the researcher collected the students' work and the cue cards.
5. Calling the students in pairs randomly in turn.

Reliability deals with the consistence of the score achieved after having a test. This research applied inter-rater scoring method. According to Hughes (2003; 42) inter-rater scorer is done by two different scorers. The assessment is done by the researcher and the English teacher. The researcher (as scorer 1) involved the English teacher (as scorer 2) to score students' speaking. The researcher invited the English teacher to give score to the students' speaking performance together. The final score was taken from the sum of score from the researcher and the English teacher and it was divided by two. However, if the score given from the researcher and the teacher has a significant difference, the researcher would meet the teacher to discuss it and decide which score is more appropriate. The researcher used this following formula to find the students' final score.

Table 3.2 Scoring Table

Student	Indicators				Final Score
	F	P	CS	Obtained Score	$\frac{\text{Ob. score}}{\text{Max. Score}} \times 100$

Table 3.3 Scoring Rubric of Speaking Test Adapted from Hughes' Scoring Rubric

Aspects	Score	Description
		Original from Hughes' Scoring indicators	Addapted indicators applied in this research
Fluency	1	Speech is so halting and fragmentary that conversation is virtually impossible.	Speech is so halting and incomplete
	2	Speech is very slow and uneven except for short or routine sentences.	Speech is very slow and frequently produce incomplete sentences
	3	Speech is frequently hesitant and jerky; sentences may be left uncompleted.	Speech is frequently hesitant and sentences may be left uncompleted
	4	Speech is occasionally hesitant, with some unevenness caused by rephrasing and groping for words.	Speech is occasionally hesitant, complete sentences are used
	5	Speech is effortless and smooth, but perceptively non native in speed and evenness.	Speech is effortless and smooth
	6	Speech on all professional and general topics as effortless and smooth as native speaker.

Pronunciation	1	Pronunciation frequently unintelligible.	Pronunciation are incomprehensible in every single word
	2	Frequent gross errors and a very heavy accent make understanding difficult, require frequent repetition.	Frequently error pronunciation happen
	3	“Foreign accent” requires concentrated listening and mispronunciations lead to occasional misunderstanding and apparent errors in grammar or vocabulary.	Pronunciation is influenced by mother tongue, lead misspronunciation
	4	Marked “foreign accent” and occasional mispronunciations which do not interfere with understanding.	Mother tongue still influences pronunciation, but only few errors happen
	5	No conspicuous mispronunciations, but would be taken for a native speaker	Pronunciation slightly influenced by mother tongue, but most of the utterances are correct
	6	Native pronunciation, with no trace of “foreign accent”.
Content	1	Understands too little for the simplest type of conversation.	Content of speech almost entirely incomprehensible
	2	Understands only slow, very simple speech common social and touristic; requires constant repetition and rephrasing.	Difficult to understand and inaccurate
	3	Understands careful, somewhat simplified speech when engaged in a dialogue, but may require considerable repetition and rephrasing.	Few of misunderstanding and produce incoherent sentences
	4	Understands quite well normal educated speech when engaged in a dialogue, but requires occasional repetition or rephrasing.	Occasionally lead misunderstanding, a few sentences need correction

	5	Understands everything in normal educated conversation except for very colloquial or low-frequency items, or exceptionally rapid or slurred speech.	Understandable, a few misunderstandings
	6	Understands everything in both formal and colloquial speech to be expected of an educated native speaker.

(Adapted from Hughes, 2003: 131-132)

The researcher modified the scoring rubric taken from Hughes (2003) because of several factors. The researcher did not focus on students' grammar and vocabulary. Since the students were expected to produce words and sentences freely without feeling hesitate on grammatical errors and not afraid of choosing the wrong vocabulary. Hughes (2003:13) also said that it must be remembered that these were developed for a particular purpose and should not be expected to work well in a significantly different situation without modification.

3.4.3 Interview

In this research, interview was used to collect the data about the teaching and learning technique that has been applied by the English teacher. The interviewee was the eight grade English teacher. Moreover, structured interview was used as the interview guide, in which it contained a list of questions related to the information needed to support the main data. The interview was done in preliminary study conducted on September 3rd 2014.

3.4.4 Documentation

Documents provide information, which is relevant to the issues and problems under investigation (Elliot, 1991:78). Documents in this research were used to collect the data about previous speaking score in the first semester of the VIIIb class, list of respondents' name and the school syllabus. The data was obtained by asking the English teacher in the printed document.

3.5 Research Procedure

As it was adapted from Lewin's research design in Elliot (1991:71), this classroom action research was done in cycle in which each cycle covered four stage of activities. They were the planning of the action, the implementation of the actions, the classroom observation and evaluation, and the data analysis and reflection of the action.

3.5.1 The Planning of the Action

To prepare everything before implementation the actions is very important. This stage of preparation was called the planning of the action. Therefore, the researcher planned what he needs and managed it in implementation of the actions. Planning of the action covers several activities. They were follows :

1. Choosing the themes and sub themes that were used in teaching speaking.
2. Selecting the material that we are used in teaching speaking, taken from students' textbook and internet. They were chose based on the themes and sub themes chosen from curriculum used.
3. Writing the lesson plans for the first cycle (meeting 1 and meeting 2).
4. Preparing the students worksheet dealing with speaking exercises.
5. Preparing the guide of observation in the form of checklist containing the indicators observed.
6. Constructing the speaking test materials.

3.5.2 The Implementation of the Action

The action was implemented after the planning of the action was done. The action was implemented in the classroom in teaching speaking by using drama technique. The implementation of the action was given during the school hours according to the schedule of the class. The researcher observed the teaching learning process by taking turn with the English teacher. The implementation of cycle 1 was done based on the lesson plans constructed by the researcher. Moreover, the speaking test was conducted after the action given.

3.5.3 Observation and Evaluation of the Action

The observation is very needed to control the students' activities in conducting drama technique in teaching speaking. The observation checklist was used to know the students active participation. The researcher did the observation based on the indicators given and it was conducted during the teaching learning process. In this case, the observation was done collaboratively with the teacher.

Evaluation was conducted to measure whether the use of drama can improve the student's speaking achievement covering fluency, pronunciation, vocabulary and content of the speech or not. There are two kinds of evaluation, they are process evaluation and product evaluation. The process evaluation was also conducted in the teaching learning process. The product evaluation was done at the end of each cycle in the speaking test.

The researcher used criteria of evaluation to determine whether the action has achieved the target successfully or not. The criteria of the successful classroom action research are as follows.

1. 75% of the students are actively involved in the teaching learning speaking process by using drama technique.
2. 75% of the students are successfully achieve the minimum requirement score, as the standard score 70.

3.5.4 Data Analysis and Reflection of the Action.

3.5.4.1 Data Analysis

The purpose of data analysis is to analyze and interpret the data into meaningful information. The collected data from the cycle were analyzed quantitatively and qualitatively. They were analyzed based on the student's participation during the teaching learning process by using drama technique in the classroom. To find the percentage of the students who achieved the indicator in the observation checklist the result of the students' speaking achievement test was analyzed by this following formula:

$$E = \frac{n}{N} \times 100\%$$

Notes :

E = The percentage of the students' active participation

n = The total number of the student who are categorized as active students

N = The number of the students who did the test.

(Adapted from Ali, 1993 : 186)

in order to find the percentage of the students who got good score category (at least 70), the score was analyzed by the following formula :

$$E = \frac{n}{N} \times 100\%$$

Notes :

E = The percentage of the students who achieve ≥ 70 as the standard score

n = The total number of the students who achieve ≥ 70 as the standard score

N = The total number of the students in speaking class

(Adapted from Ali, 1993 : 186)

The criteria of successful action in this research are as following: if the students mean score in speaking test is ≥ 70 and the 75% students get standard score ≥ 70 of the student's active participation in speaking learning process and the action can stop. Therefore, if the first cycle can not achieve the goal successfully, the second cycle are continued by revising some aspects needed in the first cycle.

The procedure of analyzing students' speaking scores is described as follows:

1. Listening to the recording of students' speaking test

2. Making students' speaking transcription
3. Assessing each indicator of speaking based scoring rubric
4. Calculating the score based on the scoring table
5. Making a conclusion

3.5.4.2 Reflection of the Action

Reflection is discussing something that has been done (Arikunto, 2006:99). The reflection was conducted after doing the data analysis. The reflection was done by the English teacher and the researcher. The reflection was intended to know whether the action given was successfully improve students' speaking achievement or not. The result of the reflection was used as an improvement in the cycle, so the researcher decided that the action was stopped. The result of the reflection in cycle 1 was used to answer the research problem.

3.6 Operational Definition of the Terms

Operational definitions described in this subchapter were drama technique, students' active participation, and speaking achievement. These operational definitions were given in order to avoid misunderstanding that might be happen.

3.6.1 Drama Technique

Drama technique in this research refers to a teaching learning technique used in teaching speaking by conducting the teaching and learning process using some rules exist in drama technique. Here, the researcher focus on using role play as a part of drama technique.

3.6.2 Students' Active Participation

Students' active participation is the students' involvement in joining the teaching and learning process of speaking. There were four indicators to determine whether the students actively or passively participate in the teaching and learning process itself. They were: 1) Answering question, 2) Asking question, 3) interacting with other students in constructing the play, and 4) participating in performing the play.

3.6.3 Speaking Achievement

Speaking achievement in this research refers to the ability of the students to speak English in front of the class. It covers fluency, pronunciation, and content. The speaking achievement was presented on the students' speaking test by performing 1 minutes dialogue containing expression of asking for permission, giving permission, and refusing permission.

CHAPTER IV. RESEARCH RESULT AND DISCUSSION

This chapter discusses the result of the action in cycle. It consist the result of the action, the result of observation, the result of speaking test, the result of reflection, the result of documentation, and discussion. The result of supporting data is also presented in this chapter.

4.1 The Result of the Action in Cycle 1

The action done in this research was only in one cycle. Because the result of the action met the targeted indicators that was 75% of the students were actively participated in the speaking class and 75 % of the students have achieved the target score for the speaking test that was 70 or in a good category and excellent. Second, the result had fulfilled the objective of the actions. Third, it was explained before in research methodology, that if the result meet the target indicator, the action is stopped. Fourth, the result of this cycle were satisfying. Fifth, it was because of the academic reason. The action was conducted in two meetings and the test were conducted at the end of the cycle that was in the third meeting in which each meeting lasted 80 minutes. The doer of the actions was the researcher (T2) in the form of teaching speaking by using drama technique, while the English teacher (T1) did the observation. The topics in this cycle were expressing ask for permission, giving permission, and refusing permission.

The result of the actions was divided into two, which are the result of the actions in meeting 1 and the result of the actions in meeting 2.

4.1.1 The Result of the Action in Meeting 1

The action in meeting 1 was conducted on November 27th 2014. The action was done during the school hours, and the time to do the action was 80 minutes. The activities in the first meeting were done based on the lesson plan for the first meeting and the material given was the expression of asking for permission, giving permission and refusing permission. The lesson plan was made collaboratively with the English teacher. At the beginning of the action, the researcher asked the students some questions in the apperception step to make them focused on what the researcher would explained about and could predict what material was discussed in that meeting.

Next activity, T2 began to explain the use of the expression of asking for permission, giving permission and refusing permission. Besides, the researcher also explained about some expressions indicating asking for permission, giving permission and refusing permission. After that, the researcher gave some examples of sentences containing expressions of asking for permission, giving permission and refusing permission in the form of simple dialogue. The researcher read the dialogue first and then asked the students to repeat the dialogue. The purpose of this activity was to drill the students about their pronunciation and fluency, so that the students accustomed to speak English. While the researcher gave them the dialogue, the researcher not only read the dialogue but also showed them some expression like surprised, disappointed, and so on according to the dialogue. After the explanation stage finished, the researcher gave time for about 5 minutes for the students to ask some questions about the material they did not understand. The researcher gave some questions about the material has been explained before in order to know whether the students could catch the point or not.

After the students answered all the researcher's questions, the researcher distributed the worksheet containing the situation that should be played by the students. In this activity the students showed some expressions related to the situation given by the teacher. For example, the students express hot feeling by fluttering their hand then say "so hot here". Another example, the students frowned to show that they were disappointed when their partner refused to give the permission. Then the students acted sick to express unwell feeling. Next activity, the researcher asked the students to make groups of two. The researcher distributed the students' worksheet. In the first activity, the students were given time for about 5 minutes to complete the incomplete short dialogue containing the expressions of asking for permission, giving permission and refusing permission. Then the researcher and the students discussed the task. The second activity was the students making their own dialogue. In this activity the students were asked to collaborate with their partner in making the dialogue and dividing the character. The situation on the dialogue was based on the cuecards given by the researcher. The time given in this activity was 10-15 minutes.

The third activity was performing the short dialogue which has been completed. Each pair was given a time for about 1-5 minutes. The last activity was giving feed-back activity. In this stage, the students gave their comment to their friends' performance, for instance whose group that was considered as the best performer. Then, the researcher and the students discussed some words that were mispronounced by the students, some errors made by the students in asking and answering questions and also in giving comments.

Process evaluation was conducted in this meeting during teaching learning of speaking by using drama technique. The instrument used to monitor the class activity was an observation checklist containing the indicators to be observed, namely: 1) Answering question, 2) Asking question, 3) interacting with other students in constructing the play, and 4) participating in performing the play.

4.1.2 The Result of the Action in Meeting 2

The second meeting was done on 1st Desember 2014. The activities in this meeting were done based on the lesson plan for meeting 2. The lesson plan was also made by the researcher and the English teacher after revising some aspects of lesson plan in meeting 1. The revision was made in order to improve the students participation in the speaking class and also to make the time more efficiently used.

The revised aspects included: first, add some warm up exercises in order to make the students motivated in the learning process. Second, the time for completing and making up the play was added 20 minutes.

Process evaluation was conducted in this meeting during the teaching learning of speaking by using drama technique. The instrument used to monitor the class activity was an observation checklist containing the indicators to be observed.

The result of the observation in meeting 1 showed that 70,83% or 17 students of 24 students were participated actively in teaching learning of speaking by using drama technique.

The classroom observation was done by T1 and T2 during the teaching learning process of speaking by using drama technique. T2 carried out the actions based on the lesson plan for the first meeting. The technique used was drama technique and the procedure of drama technique that is used by T2 was Holden's procedure in (Drama in Language Teaching: 1981). The procedure were : first, the teacher explained about the material, secondly the teacher divided the students into some groups consist of two students. Third, the teacher provided cuecards containing a situation that will be played by students.

The indicators to be observed were: 1) Answering question, 2) Asking question, 3) Interacting with other students in constructing the play, and 4) Participating in performing the play. The result of the observation can be described as follows. The students were considered active when they fulfill at least three indicators (indicator number 4 is a must).

4.2.2 The Result of the Observation in Meeting 2

As it was described before, the classroom observation in the second meeting was conducted by T1 along with T2. The result of the observation from both observers were combined after teaching learning process of speaking by using drama technique. The indicators in meeting 2 were the same as the indicators in meeting 1.

Based on the observation done in meeting 2, there were 20 students of 24 students or 83,33% students were actively participated in the speaking class. Almost of them were motivated and did not feel ashamed or afraid in the learning process.

They could raise some questions to T2 based on the material given. They also answered some questions given by T2. The result of the observation can be described with the following table:

The indicators to be observed were: 1) Answering question, 2) Asking question, 3) Interacting with other students in constructing the play, and 4)

Participating in performing the play. The result of the observation can be described as follows. The students were considered active when they fulfill at least three indicators (indicator number 4 is a must).

In conclusion, the result of the observation in meeting 2 had achieved the research objective which is at least 75% of students participate actively in the speaking class. Therefore, the actions in cycle 1 were considered successful, and the actions were stopped.

4.3 The Result of the Speaking Test

The speaking test was administered on December 2nd, 2014. The students were asked to work in pairs. The test was done in pair but the score given to each individual. The time to do the test was 80 minutes, the first 30 minutes was for making up the play, the next 20 minutes was for group preparation and 30 minutes was for group performance. Each group was given a time for about 1-3 minutes to perform their play. The result of the speaking test is in the following:

The percentage of the students' speaking achievement using this following formula:

$$E = \frac{n}{N} \times 100\%$$

$$E = \frac{20}{24} \times 100\%$$

$$E = 83,33\%$$

Notes:

In speaking test cycle 1, the percentage of the students who got at least 70 is 83,33%.

4.4 The Result of the Reflection

The reflection was done collaboratory with T1 by having a discussion. According to the result of the observations in the first meeting in Cycle 1, it showed that 17 of 24 students or 70,83% of the students actively participated in the teaching learning process of speaking by using drama technique. In the second meeting in Cycle 1, there were 20 of 24 students or 83,33% of the students actively participated in the teaching learning process of speaking. Therefore by combining the result of meeting 1 and 2 that is 77%, it could be concluded that the result of the observations in Cycle 1 of the students' active participation achieved the target criteria of the research that was 75% of the eighth grade students actively participated in the teaching learning process of speaking by using drama technique.

Table 4.4 The Improvement of the Students' Active Participation in Speaking Class Meeting 1 and Meeting 2

No.	Indicators	Active Students
		Meeting 1	Meeting 2
1.	Answering question	70,83%	83,33%
2.	Asking question
3.	Interacting with other students in constructing the play
4.	Participating in performing the play

Next, the results of the speaking ability test in Cycle 1 indicated that the percentage of the students who got score ≥ 70 in the speaking test was 83,33% (20 of 24 students). Thus, the result of the speaking ability test in Cycle 1 achieved the target criteria of the research that was 75% of the students got score ≥ 70 in the speaking test. In conclusion, since the results of the students' active participation and their speaking achievement test in Cycle 1 had achieved the target of the research, the action was stopped.

Furthermore, based on the result of the speaking test in cycle 1, it was known that those results had achieved the requirements. The result were considered successful if 75% of the students have achieved the target score that was 70. In addition, the result of the speaking test showed that there were 20 of 24 students or 83,33% had achieved the target score ≥ 70 . Therefore, the researcher did not need to conduct cycle 2.

4.5 The Result of Documentation

Documentation was used to acquire the supporting data about the list of the subjects' names of this research. The subjects of this research were the eighth grade students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 academic year. This class consisted of 24 students. They were chosen because they had problem in learning speaking.

4.6 Discussion

The technique used by the teacher of eighth year students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo to teach speaking ran unsuccessfully. The learning activities have made the students felt worried and less confidence to share their ideas to the whole class. It finally caused low motivation and achievement in the speaking class. This was shown by the result of the previous speaking test score. The results of the score were very low, that were only several students who got more than 70 in the test.

Based on the explanation above, drama technique through role play was chosen as the alternative technique in teaching speaking to improve the students' participation and achievement in speaking class. After being given the action, which was teaching speaking by using drama technique through role play in the eight grade students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo was better improved. The detail of improvement can be described as follows.

Based on the result of the data analysis, it was found that in cycle 1, the result of the observations of the students' active participation (role play) was 70,83% (17 of 24 students) in the first meeting. While in the second meeting 83,33% (20 of 24 students) were actively participated in the TL process of speaking by using drama technique in the topic “Asking for permission, giving permission and refusing permission”. So that the general result of this cycle was 77% of the students were actively participated in the TL process of speaking using drama technique. It means that the result of the observation in Cycle 1 achieved the target criteria of the research that was 75% of the students actively participated in the TL process of speaking by using drama technique. Based on those results, it could be concluded that the use of drama technique could improve the students’ active participation in the speaking teaching learning process.

Compared with the previous research done by Herlista (2009:37), it was showed that the general result of the actions in cycle 1 was 79,5% of the students students active participated in the speaking class using drama technique. The result of speaking test through drama technique in cycle 1 indicated that 88% of the students got score ≥ 70 . It means that the action given in cycle 1 were successfully done.

This improvement might be caused by the use of drama technique through role play as the teaching technique to teach speaking since it provided the students with a real communication, it focused on the use of the target language, self expression, relaxing atmosphere and learn language by doing. As Desialova (2009) says, using drama and drama activities has clear advantages for language learning. It encourage students to speak. It gives them the chance to communicate even with limited language using non verbal communication such as body movements and facial expressions. The students might become motivated and exited to learn. As stated by Peregoy and Boyle (2008) "Drama activities provide students with a variety of contextualized and scaffold activities that gradually involve more participation and more oral language proficiency, they are also non- threatening and a lot of fun".

Thus, based on the results of this classroom action research, it could be said that the use of drama technique could improve the eighth grade students’ participation and achievement in speaking class at SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 academic year.

CHAPTER V . CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the research results that have been discussed in the previous chapter, it can be concluded that the use of drama technique in one cycle could improve the students' participation and achievement in the speaking class in the eight grade students of SMPN 2 Ledokombo in the 2014/2015 academic year.

The improvement was indicated by the percentage of the students who were actively participated after being given the actions. The percentage in meeting 1 was 70,83% and in meeting 2 was 83,33% of the students participated actively in the speaking class. Besides, the result of the speaking test showed that 83,33% or 20 of 24 students reached score ≥ 70 . It means that more than 75% of the students have achieved the target score.

Drama became one of the good solutions to solve this problem. Drama is very useful, it contributes a lot of advantages to English Language teaching. It increased the students' motivation and develop the students' self confidence. Besides, it gave the opportunity to the students to use the target language in a meaningful context competely with their facial expressions and gestures. With drama the students could play, move, act and learn at the same time. This means that drama technique was able to improve the students' participation and achievement in speaking class.

5.2 Suggestions

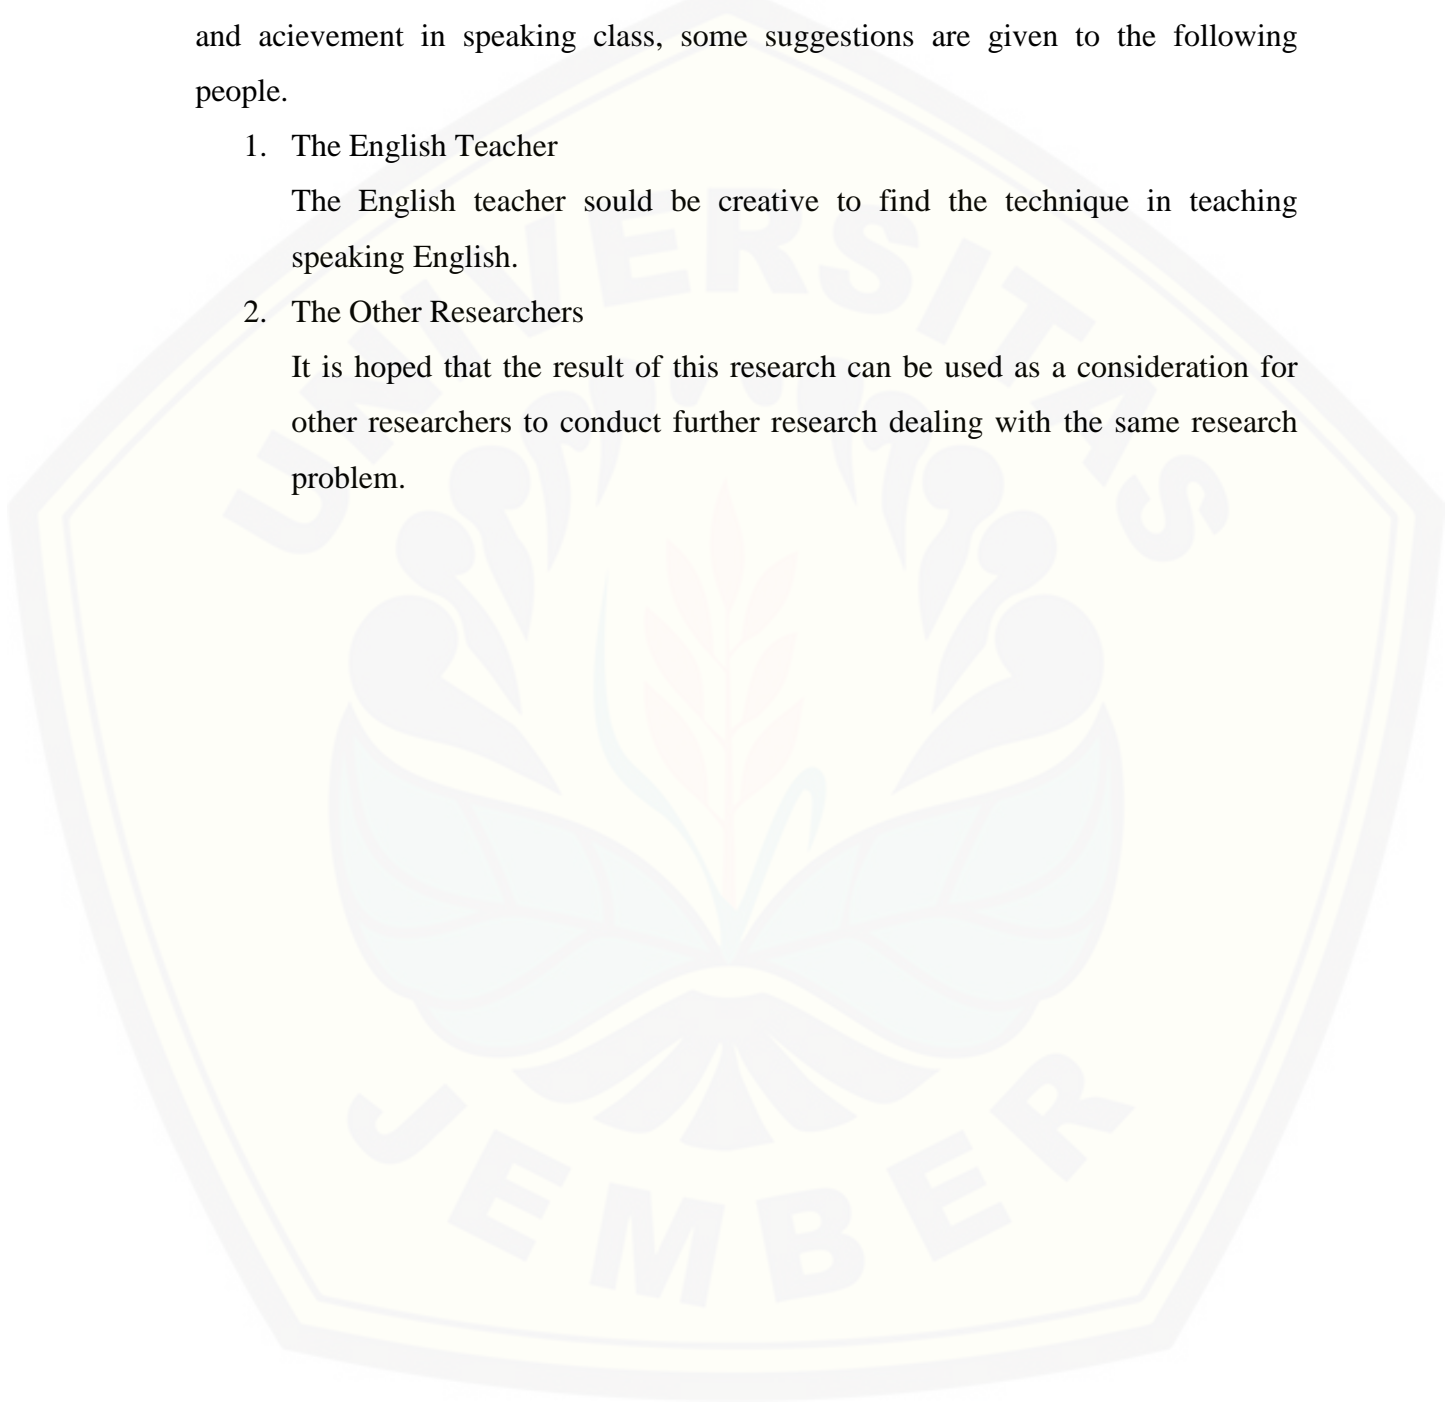

Since the use of drama technique could improve the students' participation and achievement in speaking class, some suggestions are given to the following people.

1. The English Teacher

The English teacher should be creative to find the technique in teaching speaking English.

2. The Other Researchers

It is hoped that the result of this research can be used as a consideration for other researchers to conduct further research dealing with the same research problem.

No.	Questions	Answers
1.	How often do you teach English in a week?	English is taught twice a week. The duration is 2x40 per meeting
4.	What kind of text book do you use in teaching English?	The book that I used in Teaching English is " When English Rings the Bell SMP/MTs Kelas VIII. ". Besides I also use BIMA students' worksheet.
5.	What teaching and learning model or method do you use in teaching spoken English?	I use scientific approach
6.	What techniques and media do you use in teaching spoken English?	I use question and answer as the technique, and pictures as the media.
7.	What kind of speaking test do you usually use?	Monologue test.
8.	In giving monologue task, do you give them certain situation?	Sometime I give them some situations, sometime not.
10.	What obstacles do the students face in learning speaking?	Most of them have difficulties in pronunciation because it influence by mother tongue. They also lack of effort to speak because they are afraid of making mistakes.
11.	How do you overcome the problems?	I train them to pronounce words correctly. I also encourage them to be brave to speak in front of the class.
12.	Have you ever used Drama as the technique in teaching spoken English?	I haven't
