ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First, I would like to express my greatest gratitude to Allah SWT, without his blessing and mercy I would not be able to finish my thesis entitled “Improving The Students’ Speaking Achievement through Role Play”.

Furthermore, I would like to express my great appreciation and sincerest gratitude to these following people:

1. The Dean of the Faculty of Teacher Training and Education
2. The Chairperson of the Language and Arts Education Department
3. The Chairperson of the English Education Program
4. My consultants, Drs. Erfan, M.Pd and Eka Wahjuningsih, S.Pd, M.Pd.
5. The examiners, Dr. Aan Erlyana Fardani, M.Pd. and Dra. Wiwiek Eko Bindarti, M.Pd.
6. The lecturers of the English Education Program.
7. The principal of SMP Negeri 1Semboro, the English teacher, the administration staffs, and the VIII C students of SMP Negeri 1 Semboro.
8. My beloved friends who gave me support to finish my thesis.

I do hope that this thesis will be a useful contribution to the field of Education, especially the teaching of English speaking. Any suggestion would be appreciated.

SUMMARY

Improving the Students' Speaking Achievement through Role Play; Tamam Ali Roziqi; 130210401055; 26 pages; English Education Study Program, Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, Jember University.

Speaking is an important skill to be mastered in learning English. Kuśnierek (2015) says that being able to use a foreign language orally means that the speaker is able to communicate efficiently. Considering the importance of learning speaking, this classroom action research was conducted to improve the VIII C students' speaking achievement.

The preliminary study was done through an interview with the English teacher on 31st August 2017. Based on the result of the interview, VIII C was the class with the lowest speaking achievement from eight classes. There was only 11 students of 35 students (31.42%) who passed the minimum criteria which is 75. From the interview, it was found that the students had some problems in speaking such as lack of confidence, nervous, and afraid when speaking English.

Based on the problem above, it is important to choose an alternative teaching technique to teach speaking. Thus, the researcher proposed role play technique in teaching speaking. Role play is a technique in which the students are given a certain role to act. Through role play the students will be absorbed in the speaking activity, making them forget that they are learning a new language.

This classroom action research was done in a cycle which covered four steps namely planning of the action, implementing of the action, observing, and reflecting of the action. It was done in three meetings. During the implementation of the action which was done in two meetings, the researcher observed the students using observation checklist to monitor the process of teaching and the teacher implemented role play in teaching speaking. In the third meeting the researcher and the teacher administered a speaking test to know their speaking achievement after role play was implemented.

The observation was done in the first and second meetings. There were three indicators observed in the first meeting which were paying attention to the teacher's explanation, actively involved in group work, and asking for input. The result of observation in the first meeting showed that 35 of 35 students paid attention, 27 of 35 students actively involved, and 6 of 35 students asked for input. In the second meeting, there were three indicators too which were paying attention to others' performances, asking for teacher's feedback, and involving in the group performance. The result shows that 23 of 35 students paid attention, 16 of 35 students asked for feedback, and all students involved in the group performance.

In the third meeting the researcher and the teacher conducted a speaking test to obtain the data of the students' speaking achievement. The result showed that there were 20 of 34 students who passed the test (58.82%) with the mean score of 78.11. The minimum score required to pass the test was 75. In addition, the criteria of success of this research is 50%. Based on the result, it could be said that the use of role play could improve the VIII C students' speaking achievement.

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

1.1. Background of the Research

Speaking is one of the productive skills besides writing. It is considered as a productive skill because in speaking a speaker has to produce the language and use appropriate gestures. Thus, it can be said that speaking is a skill that involves the use of body language and language production.

Speaking is a must to be learned by the students for some reasons. First, as a communicative skill, speaking is needed by the students to express their ideas and thoughts. This is in tone with what Kuśnierek (2015) says that being able to use a foreign language orally means that the speaker is able to communicate efficiently. Furthermore, Widiati and Cahyono (2006) say that speaking is a complex skill involving paralinguistic features such as voice qualities, tempo, loudness, facial and bodily gestures as well as prosodic features such as intonation, pitch, stress, rhythm, and pausing. Third, speaking is used more than writing in students' daily life. According to Thornbury (2009) tens of thousands words were produced per day by us. He also states that speaking is so much a part of daily life that we take it for granted. Thus, learning speaking is a must since it is a complex skill that we often use in expressing our ideas.

Furthermore, the complexity of speaking might lead to some problems for the students. To figure out these problems, the researcher had done a preliminary study through an informal interview with an English teacher who teaches the eighth grade at SMPN 1 Semboro. The first problem was that the students of VIII C had low confidence in speaking using English. According to the teacher, when speaking the students showed nervousness, they were afraid to maintain eye contact and their body movements were stiff. They were also afraid of making mistakes while speaking which made making too many or even too long pauses. Another problem was their pronunciation. They still made a lot of mistakes in pronunciation which lead to misunderstanding of the intended meaning.

Therefore, to overcome this problem an appropriate technique in teaching is required. One of the techniques is role play. Tompkins (1998) says that students mostly forget that they are learning a new language in role play since they are absorbed in the interaction. It can help them to overcome their nervousness. Through role play, they have better chanced to practice speaking English. Huang (2008) says that students have more opportunities to act and interact in English with their friends through role play. The more they practice, the better they would get. Just as Harmer (2015:123) says that as the various elements of language stored in students' brain are activated, the students will be able to speak fluently and unconsciously.

In the previous research done by Selina (2013), role play was used to overcome the students' problem in speaking. The result revealed that the use of role play could make speaking activity fun which led the students enjoy the activity during the teaching learning process of speaking.

Considering the above background, role play technique was used to teach speaking in this research. It was expected that the use of role play could overcome the students' speaking problems and improve their speaking achievement. Thus, this research entitled "Improving the Students' Speaking Achievement through Role Play" was proposed.

1.2. Problems of the Research

This research aimed to investigate the use of role play in improving the students' speaking achievement. The problem of this research was as follows: "Can the use of role play improve the students' speaking achievement?"

1.3. Objective of the Research

Based on the research problems above, the objective of this research was to improve the students' speaking achievement by using role play.

1.4. Significance of the Research

The result of this research will give significant contribution to:

1. The teacher

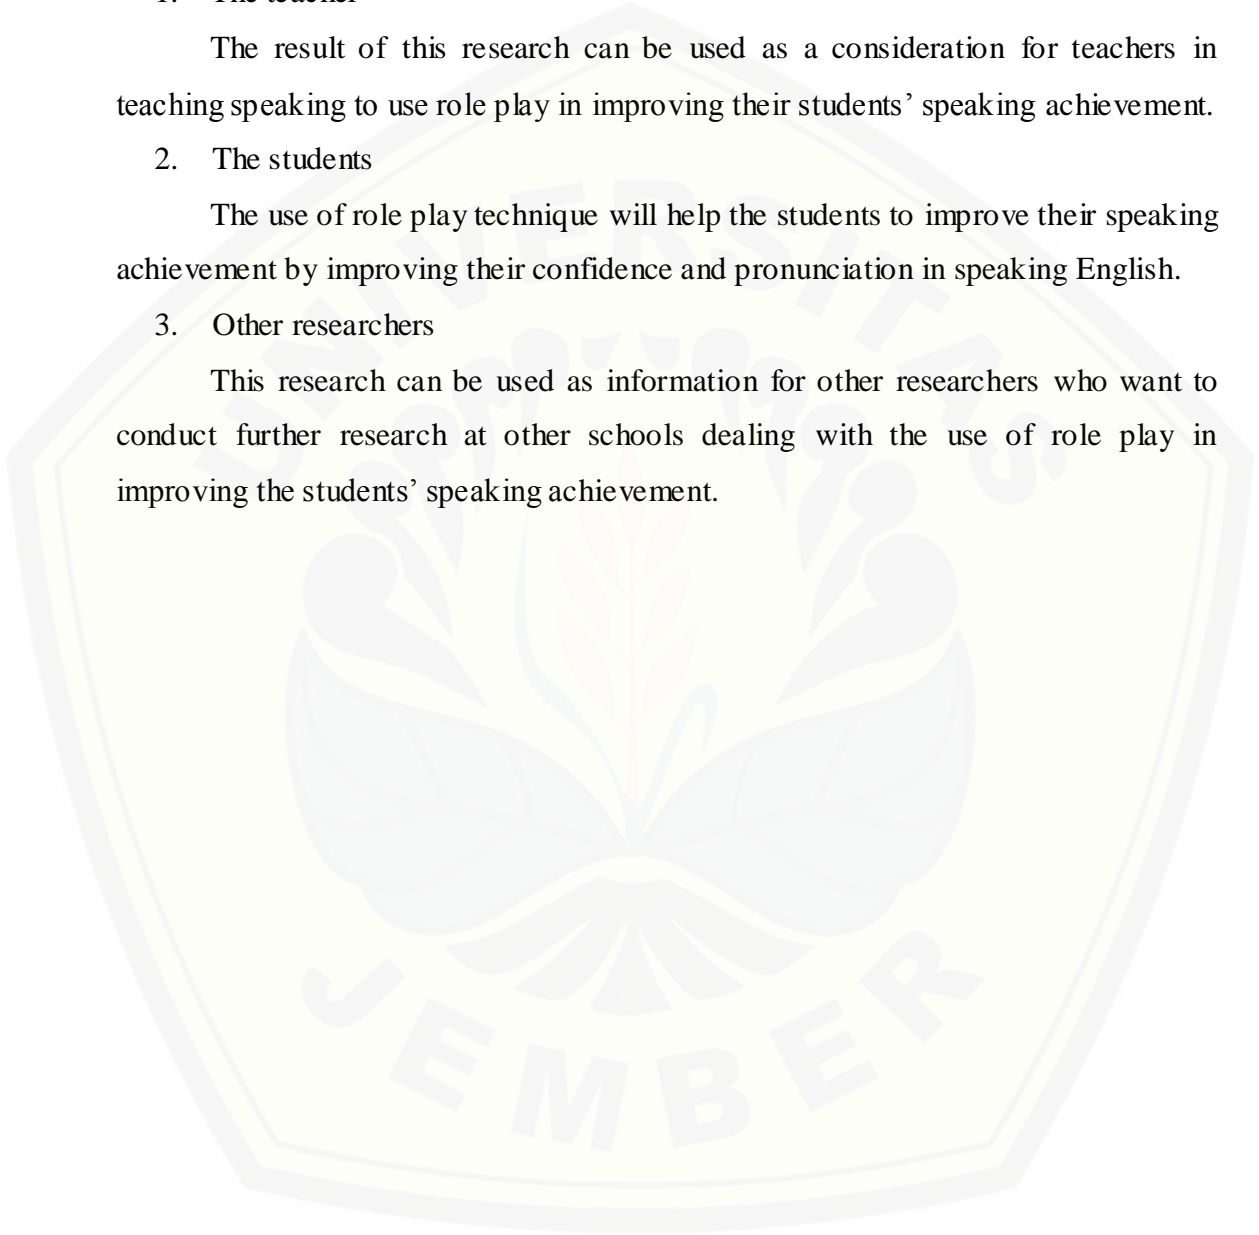

The result of this research can be used as a consideration for teachers in teaching speaking to use role play in improving their students' speaking achievement.

2. The students

The use of role play technique will help the students to improve their speaking achievement by improving their confidence and pronunciation in speaking English.

3. Other researchers

This research can be used as information for other researchers who want to conduct further research at other schools dealing with the use of role play in improving the students' speaking achievement.

CHAPTER II

RELATED LITERATURE REVIEW

This chapter discusses the theoretical framework of speaking achievement and speaking teaching techniques such as role play. The discussion is divided into five subchapters containing (1) speaking in ELT (English Language Teaching), (2) role play, (3) operational definitions, (4) speaking achievement, and (5) previous study

2.1. Speaking in ELT (English Language Teaching)

Both speaking and writing are needed to express our ideas and thoughts. Unlike writing which is needed to express our ideas and thoughts in written form, speaking is needed to express our ideas and thoughts in oral form. It means that speaking is the skill we need to communicate orally. Chaney (1998:13) says that speaking is “the process of building and sharing meaning through the use of verbal and non-verbal symbols, in a variety of context.”

Speaking is an important skill to be taught due to some reasons. First, speaking is not easy to learn due to its complexity. Widiati and Cahyono (2006) state that speaking is a complex skill involving paralinguistic features such as voice qualities, tempo, loudness, facial and bodily gestures as well as prosodic features such as intonation, pitch, stress, rhythm, and pausing. Furthermore, according to Sakale (2012), non-native speakers lack of the opportunity to practice their English. That is why classroom is badly needed to give the students room to practice their English. The more they practice, the more their speaking will be improved. Harmer (2015:123) states that the more chance given to the students to use the various elements of language they know will help them become autonomous language users. It means that they will be able to communicate efficiently, as Kuśnierek (2015:73) argues that being able to use foreign language orally means that the speaker is able to communicate efficiently.

To give the best opportunities for students to practice their speaking, there are several things a teacher has to do in teaching speaking. Kayi (2006) provides some suggestions in teaching speaking, some of them are as follows:

1. Provide maximum opportunity for students to speak the target language by providing a rich environment that contains collaborative work, authentic materials and tasks, and shared knowledge.
2. Try to involve each student in every speaking activity; for this aim, practice different ways of students' participation.
3. Indicate positive signs when commenting on a student's response.
4. Ask eliciting questions such as "What do you mean? How did you reach that conclusion?" in order to prompt students to speak more.
5. Provide feedback like "Your presentation was really great. It was a good job. I really appreciated your efforts in preparing the materials and efficient use of your voice..."
6. Do not correct students' pronunciation mistakes very often while they are speaking. Correction should not distract student from his or her speech.
7. Circulate around classroom to ensure that students are on the right track and see whether they need your help while they work in groups or pairs.
8. Provide the vocabulary beforehand that students need in speaking activities.
9. Diagnose problems faced by students who have difficulty in expressing themselves in the target language and provide more opportunities to practice the spoken language.

(Kayi, 2006)

From the above suggestions, in an EFL communities such as Indonesia there are several things a teacher has to pay attention to in teaching speaking. First of all, before teaching speaking, the students must be taught the vocabulary that will be used in speaking. It can be done by making the students familiar with the vocabulary used in speaking in relation to topic being learnt. And then, the teaching learning process must be students-centered by giving them maximum opportunity to practice.

2.2. Role Play

Role play is one of the techniques that a teacher might use to make the students active and interested in learning speaking. In role playing the students have to pretend and act the role given. Harmer (2015:125) says that in role plays the students are given some roles to stimulate the real world. Kayi (2006) says that in role-playing students have to pretend that they are in various social contexts and have a variety of social roles. Thus, it can be said that role play is a technique in which the students have to act and pretend based on a given role and situation.

There are some benefits of role play. First, through role playing students have better opportunities to practice their English. Huang (2008) says that students have more opportunities to act and interact in English with their friends through role playing. Tompkins (1998) also states that role play “promotes effective interpersonal relations and social transactions among participants”. Furthermore, Harmer (2015:125) also states that role play simulates the real-world situation in the same way as simulation, but the difference is that in role play the students are given a particular role. The next reason is that through role play the students are actively involved in the speaking activity. Tompkins (1998) says that students mostly forget that they are learning new language in role playing since they are absorbed in the interaction. Role play also lets the students practice speaking in many different contexts. Kuśnierek (2015:84) states that students may be trained by the teacher to practice their speaking skills in any social situations.

From the above brief explanation about role play in speaking teaching it can be concluded that role play makes the students active in speaking class. It also helps the students to practice and improve their speaking skill in various context and fun learning environment.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents conclusion and suggestion that will be further explained below:

5.1. Conclusion

Based on the result of data analysis and discussion it can be concluded that the use of role play could improve the eighth grade students' speaking achievement. This research aimed to improve the VIII C students' speaking achievement through the use of role play. It followed classroom action research design. The speaking test showed that 58.82 % of the students passed the test. From 34 students who were present during the test, 20 of them had achieved score more than the minimum passing grade that was 75. In other words, it can be said that the use of role play could improve the VIII C students' speaking achievement of SMPN 1 Semboro in the 2017/2018 academic year.

5.2. Suggestion

By considering the result of teaching speaking using role play that could improve the students' speaking achievement, the researcher proposed some suggestions for these following people:

1. English Teachers

It is suggested that English teachers use role play in teaching speaking due to the fact that the use of role play could improve the students' speaking achievement.

2. Future Researchers

Future researchers are suggested to use the result of this research as reference to conduct further research with the same or different research design dealing with the use of role play in teaching speaking.

Interview Guidelines

No	Question	Answer
1	How many classes are there in the 8 th grade?	There are eight classes in the 8 th grade.
2	Which class from the eighth grade the lowest speaking achievement?	There are eight classes in the eighth grade, VIII-C is the class with the lowest speaking achievement.
3	What curriculum do you use in teaching the 8 th grade?	We use K-13 to teach the 8 th grade students.
4	Have you ever use role play to teach speaking?	No, I have not.
5	How do you teach speaking?	I teach them by giving them examples of how to pronounce in English as well as correcting their mistakes.
6	What are the problems faced by the students in speaking English?	Most of my students have low confidence when they speak using English, they are showing nervousness, afraid to maintain eye contact and their body movements are stiff. They also afraid to make mistakes when speaking, it makes them creating too long and too many pauses when speaking. My students also making a lot of mistakes in pronunciation which lead to misunderstanding.
7	What is the minimum score required for the student to pass the English lesson?	The minimum criteria to pass is 75.
